LIFE IN THE POLAR SEAS.

Plenty of Bears, Birds and Narwhale—Millions of Fiddlers and Fleas.

It is evident, according to Nansen, that the waters of the polar seas are far from being deserted by living creatures, says the Journal des Debats. Whenever the sea is open, or partially so, seals, narwhals and birds abound, and on the heaps of ice near the edge of the water the bears are numerous. Under the ice marine animals are not wanting. The explorers found an abundance of little crustaceans, whose discovery was the result of an accident.

One day the cook sunk a piece of meat in a hole which he had cut in the ice with a view of thawing it out. This is a method often resorted to for the purpose of sparing the fuel. Forty-eight hours afterward, while taking out the meat, the cook was astonished to find an immense number of little animals that dropped upon the surface of the ice and commenced to jump about like fleas. Nansen, who is a professor of zoology, had no trouble in recognizing these little crustaceans, which may be seen jumping in the sand, and which are called sand fleas. He was delighted at the discovery, because the creatures are good to eat, although they contain but little nourishment.

A few months later, when in 78 or 80 degrees north latitude, in October, that is to say, at the beginning of the long winter night, he fished up in a little net with closed meshes a quantity of little crustaceans. This proves that life is by no means suspended under the ice; on the contrary, it is very active. In the mud of the bottom, where the water is shallow, there are numerous starfish, mollusks, worms, sponges, and several species of crustaceans.

A FREE AND EASY JAIL.

One Prisoner Gave the Jailor's Wife Bicycle Lessons.

The Nantucket jail stories which have been current courtroom topics for the last century have been entirely eclipsed by recent stories concerning the convicts of the Barnstable jail, says the Nantucket Inquirer and Mirror. Mr. E. C. Knapp, who is supposed to be serving five years' sentence for stealing national bank funds, was recently seen in the streets in prison garb, giving the wife of the jailor, Mrs. G. H. Cash, bicycle lessons. Mrs. Cash is 38 years old and has a daughter aged 18 years and the convict is said to occupy a place of congenial companionship in the jailor's family. Another convict, named Lewis Rogers, was recently allowed to take a cow to Yarmouth and back while the sun was bright and invigorating for a pleasant walk.

There is another prisoner, a Portuguese named Joe, who is there on complaint of a Portuguese girl named Rosa, and her story is that Joe promised to marry her while he was serving out a previous sentence in the jail, and that she often met Joe outside the jail. It is a pitiful story, because when Joe got out of jail he married another girl, after borrowing $30 from Rosa. And all this in Barnstable town, where the jail is. The stories of Nantucket's easy-going jail pale into insignificance in comparison with our continental neighbor.

GREECE'S MOTHERLY QUEEN.

Olga's Simplicity of Taste Wins for Her the Love of the People.

The queen of Greece is looked upon as a mother. Simplicity in tastes and a kind disposition have won for her the name. She has never got over her own great sorrow—the death of her eldest daughter, Grand Duchess Paul, whose departure from Athens to be married was more like a funeral than the preface to a bridal. All Athens turned out to wish her joy. But the faces of the bride and her mother were blighted with tears. This being thought a bad omen, the air was filled with lamentation. The princess was entreated by the women to turn back and wait for some more propitious time to begin her journey. But the princess was married, and was killed in less than two years by a fall from a carriage that was going at a furious pace. A nurse of the princess dreamed the night before the departure for Russia that they were at the museum and came to a sculpture representing a family group around a dying girl. The dreamer thought the personages very suddenly changed into the king, the queen herself and the betrothed princess. The next morning she told her dream to the queen, who laughed, but believed her, as her blighted face showed.

Jenny Lind's Last Public Appearance.

"The last time Jenny Lind sang in public was on July 23, 1883, in the Spa, Malvern Hills, England, writes Mrs. Raymond Maude, daughter of the "Swedish Nightingale," in Ladies' Home Journal. "The concert was in aid of the Railway Servants' Benevolent fund, and indeed was a red-letter day to the country folk who came from all the country round with the modest 18-pence which secured them standing room. On one of my walks, during the last sad week I helped to nurse her, I found an old woman in a remote cottage who eagerly asked for the 'good lady who was so ill up there.' Upon finding who I was she assured me that it would have been worth even more stinting and a further walk to have had such a treat in her old age as that singing."

THE TRIUMPH OF LOVE: Happy and Fruitful Marriage.

Every MAN who would know the GRAND TRUTHS, the Old Secrets and the New Discoveries of Medical Sciences applied to Married Life, would save for past follies and avoid future pitfalls, should write for our wonderful little book, called "Complete Manual of the Marriage and How to Obtain It," and we will mail one copy Entirely Free, in plain sealed cover.

ERIE MEDICAL CO., 64 N. DAKOTA ST., BUFFALO, N. Y.

When a young couple runs away to get married half the world says: "How Romantic!" the other half says: "How silly!" But you can't tell either way until the "honey-moon" is over. When this young couple get settled down to the regular hum-drum of life, they'll manage all right and find solid happiness in any case, if they have good hearts and sound health. All depends on that.

It's wonderful how much health has to do with married happiness. Sickness affects the temper. You can't be happy nor make others happy if you're ailing. When you find yourself irritable, easily worried, beginning to "run-down" it's because your blood is getting poor. You need richer blood and more of it. Your blood-making organs need to be vitalized by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It imparts new power to produce an abundance of the healthy, red corpuscles, and gives you a fresh supply of pure, rich blood. It's a blood-creator; it is for everyone whose blood is impure or in a poor, "run-down" condition. It prevents the germs of disease from getting a hold on your system. Even after disease is settled on you, it is driven out by the blood-creating properties of the "Discovery." It is a perfect cure for general and nervous debility, catarrh, malaria, eczema, erysipelas, scrofula and every form of blood disease. It isn't called a consumption-cure, but every consumption, which has its roots in the blood, is driven out by the "Golden Medical Discovery" if taken in time. The "Discovery" is the prescription of one of the most eminent physicians and medical writers in this country.

A DUCK-SHOOTER'S PARADISE.

The Marshes of St. Clair, Raleigh and Dover Plains.

As we neared Jeanette's creek the flood deepened until the ditch was lost and we could paddle at will in any direction, says Outing. The great plain looked like a lake of muddy water, and for 15 miles in one direction only tops of tall dead rushes and an occasional stunted shrub hinted that the expanse was dusty dry during summer.

To the sportsman that drowned level presented a picture which will never be duplicated on this continent. Only the famous English fens, in their best days, ever rivaled the marshes of St. Clair and Raleigh and Dover Plains. In every direction were floating, or flying, huge rafts of wild fowl—hundreds of thousands of them being in sight at once. Mallard, black duck, pintail, red-head, bluebill, widgeon, wood duck, blue and green-winged teal, bufflehead, ruddy duck, merganser, golden eye, coot and grebe comprised the bulk of that feathered host, but several comparatively rarer varieties would be noticed during a day's shooting.

Geese in thousands, mostly big Canadas, with perhaps an occasional brant and snow goose, swept landward and lakeward at the birth and death of each day.

WHERE LAND IS CHEAP.

Two Hundred Acres Were Forced Upon a Man.

A large weather map hangs in the senate chamber in Washington, and senators gather before it in the morning studying the conditions for the day. Many a good story is there told regarding the climate of different localities. To Senator Kyle, of South Dakota, the New York Sun accredits such a story.

Dakota weather is so bad, Senator Kyle is reported as saying, that farmers are often very glad to get rid of their land. One of my neighbors saw a stranger leading a cow along one day. The two men began to talk, and soon a trade was made, the farmer offering the stranger 200 acres of land for the cow.

When the stranger, who could not read, took the deed to Aberdeen to be recorded, he found it to call for 400 acres instead of 200. He went back to the farmer, expostulated, and tried to get the deed changed. But the farmer held out. Nothing the stranger could say or do would move the farmer, and the stranger was forced to take the 400 acres.

A Delicious Fruit Meat.

Select oranges with perfect skins, wipe them with a damp cloth and weigh them. Peel the fruit by taking the skin off in quarters and then cut it into straws. Cover the cut peel with hot water and let it cook 15 minutes. Drain off the water and again cover the peel with hot water and boil until the straws are tender. Meanwhile put into a preserving kettle the weight of the fruit in granulated sugar and squeeze over it the juice of the orange. Put the kettle over the back of the fire where the sugar will slowly dissolve. When the liquid boils put in the cooked straws and boil 20 minutes. Put the peel into jelly glasses and when it is cold cover. —Good Housekeeping.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES

EASTERN ADVERTISING OFFICE, 230 to 234 Temple Court, New York City. E. Katz, Agent.

MRS. LOGAN QUOTES MR. McKINLEY.

Mrs. John A. Logan, the widow of the late General John A. Logan, in a letter to the New York World, quotes President McKinley as saying with respect to applications to office:

"Other things can wait until something has actually been done that shall start business and bring relief to the people. I shall give little heed to anything else until I have exhausted every resource that will promise business prosperity and consequent happiness to the masses."

As there are on the President's list 105,106 applications for 12,627 offices, Mrs. Logan's reminder to the President is timely, especially when thousands of coal miners are striking for wages that will keep themselves and those dependent upon them from starving. The opinion prevails, however, that the offices were traded for votes for the tariff bill and that the President will pay very little attention to Mrs. Logan's reminder when the tariff bill is out of the way. Should he wait for business prosperity and happiness of the masses before considering the 105,106 applications for office the present incumbents need have no great fear of being removed until there is a free coinage bill on the statutes.

MCKINLEY CHANGES HIS PLANS.

The proposed message of the President to Congress recommending the appointment of a commission to consider the question of a revision of our currency and national banking laws will not be transmitted for several days, if it goes in at all.

The president is now undecided whether or not to send in any message for the reason that a number of the most important leaders of the party in the Senate and House have made strong representations to him of the inadvisability of sending a message to Congress while the tariff bill is in conference.

Senators Allison and Quay, Representative Dingley and other party leaders had a long conference with President McKinley and they urged him to reconsider his determination to send a special currency message to Congress, as it would be likely to arouse feeling and cause friction that would delay speedy final action on the tariff bill.

POOR IRELAND.

The Queen's Jubilee has not passed by without a discordant note. It seems that several Irish representatives could not find the heart to join in the general praise-rendering, but expressed themselves rather forcibly against the prevailing sentiments. Mr. Dillon, in a speech before the House, declared that Ireland cannot join in congratulating the Queen, for in her reign the taxes of the country have doubled, the population has decreased by half, thousands have starved and thousands, unable to gain sustenance, have been compelled to emigrate. Mr. Redmond, the Parnellite leader, has expressed himself quite as bitter, saying: "While your empire is employed in Jubilee, proud, prosperous and free, Ireland stands at your door in poverty and subjection, sullen and discomfited." These utterances, while they may be true enough, cannot be laid at the door of the Queen, for all responsibility falls upon the shoulders of her ministers, who have the entire executive and administrative authority in the kingdom.

POACHERS DISCOMFITED.

The Federal Government has at last taken decided action in relation to its sealing interest in the Bering Sea. Dr. David Starr Jordan of Leland Stanford Jr. University leaves in a short while for the Arctic regions to carry into effect a plan which will practically offset seal poaching in the future. The scheme is to brand the female seals across the back with an ingenious electrical device. Experiments of a like nature were successfully tried last year and it was found that, while the branding did not injure the seal nor interfere with the whelps, it effectually spoiled the skin as an article of commerce. By this course of action the Kamuck poachers will be entirely discomfited and the seal herds will be as effectually protected as though the guns of the Charleston or San Francisco were covering them.

The House of Representatives refused to concur in the Senate amendments to the tariff bill and appointed a conference committee to meet with a similar committee from the Senate. It may take the conference committee some days to agree, but that it will eventually agree there is not much doubt. The Eastern members are opposed to a duty on hides and the western Senators insist on such a duty.

The powers have notified Turkey that it must relinquish the idea of getting a slice of Greece, and the Turk ought to know what that means. It is strange that Turkey, which the powers for years have kept from being gobbled up by Russia, should attempt to dismember Greece and set the powers an example in carving.

The Bryan demonstration at Sacramento was the largest ever seen in that city. People from the adjacent country flocked into the city to see and hear the great silver champion, who is battling for the rights of the masses.

The Gold Mining Congress has selected Salt Lake as the place to hold its next convention.

California wheat will be in demand in the British Isles owing to drought in New South Wales and Australia.

Mrs. John Bradbury, the Los Angeles erring wife, is quite ill in San Francisco and her case has been continued until Monday.

Captain Francis Yorke McMahon of the First Royal Dragoons committed suicide by shooting at London. Financial embarrassments caused the rash act.

The police have notified the Los Angeles stock exchanges to close their doors. Only one has complied, the others having determined to fight the order.

Dr. Richmond Cornwall of St. Louis was charged with murder yesterday and a warrant for his arrest issued. He is charged with killing his brother Herbert Wednesday night.

The Republican conference on the tariff bill met yesterday morning and proceeded to adjust the differences between the two Houses. The work proceeded behind closed doors.

W. Russell Ward, the gay old Lothario who won Mrs. Bradbury from her home, has asked for further time to secure witnesses in his behalf and his case will be concluded to-day.

The Senate adjourned out of respect to Senator Harris. Resolutions were adopted and a public funeral in the Senate Chamber arranged, to which the President, Cabinet, Supreme Court and Diplomatic Corps will be invited.

W. W. Tullis, a member of the Texas Sanitary Board, states that he has just found a herd of cattle in Randle county infected with splenic or Texas fever. The counties from which the herd had come have been quarantined.

At Cleveland, O., the situation is becoming desperate over the coal strike. The railroads are growing bolder in confiscation of coal, and those depending on a regular supply are worried. The vesselmen say that the strike will cause all but the largest boats to lay up. The Cleveland Steel Company's plant has shut down for lack of fuel.

The joint scale conference of Iron and Steel Manufacturers and the Amalgamated Association, which has been in session for two days at Pittsburgh took a final adjournment without agreement or settlement. The Association declined to concede 10 per cent for rolling steel of 22 gauge and lighter over the price. Twenty-five thousand men are affected.

Glorious weather prevails in San Francisco and the various churches yesterday were crowded with Christian Endeavorers, where prayer meetings were held. Song services were a feature of the day in some of the churches and meetings were held at Woodward's Pavilion, where the exercises were elaborate. A number of addresses were made on the work of the association and an adjournment taken.

A thousand people met Bryan at Red Bluff yesterday morning at 5 o'clock. Mr. Bryan was escorted to a platform, from which he addressed the large audience for some fifteen minutes. At Redding a similar demonstration was accorded the silver champion, and although he was suffering from hoarseness he spoke for fully a half hour. People came from the country far and near to hear him, and the streets were crowded.

The developments of the next twelve hours will have a most important bearing on the miners' strike. Anxiety as to the outcome prevails on all sides. Severe earnestness now marks the great struggle. The conference at Pittsburgh of prominent labor leaders is looked forward to with anxious interest. It is also suggested that a joint meeting of the Arbitration Boards of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Pennsylvania be held next week with a view to settle the strike. This proposition is received with favor and it is believed that both the operators and miners will welcome it.

A regular meeting of the Cabinet was held yesterday and the main topic of discussion was the subject of a currency commission, which has been withheld for a few days at the request of leading Republicans. After considering all of the objections that had been made against the presentation of a message, the President and Cabinet decided that in order to follow the party promises the subject of currency reform should be treated in a message recommending the creation of a non-partisan commission, and unless the President changes his plans the message will be transmitted Monday.

Take a dollar bill and fold it several times each way. Then unfold it, and you will find it in creases. Keep the increase, but send the original bill to the printer who put you on to the scheme. Then take a silver dollar and drop it on the counter and notice the ring it makes. Send the ring to your best girl and the $1 to the printer and everybody will be happy.—Ex.

The Christian Endeavors have taken California by storm. Whether they will capture the State or convert the people remains to be seen. They have come fully equipped with prayer and song, and their good work will be pushed energetically. It may make California better, or at least it is hoped that it will have a good effect on the sinful city of San Francisco.

A SCOTCH HOME.

The Lasting Influence of a Dear Mother's Hymns.

A poor peasant on the Scotch coast had an unusually large brood of children, seven of them boys, and little indeed could he do for them. He labored early and late in the fields, and contrived to keep the wolf from the door, but that was all. There was never a shilling to spare, and the farmer's life was a hopeless, exhausting struggle against poverty and adversity.

The mother, too, worked early and late with all the cooking, washing and household drudgery of the humble home. There were many to clothe as well as to feed, and so scanty were the schooling facilities on that lonely stretch of coast, that she herself taught the boys one by one to read and write.

If there had been girls among the older children she would have had help in the housework. Her daughters were the youngest of the flock, and only added to her cares when she was least able to endure them.

Wearily and overworked as this Scotch mother was, she was always the light and the life of the household. It was a happy home because it was brightened by her cheerfulness and contentment.

When there was a boy old enough to read a book alone, there was entertainment for the family while she was sewing, and she taught her children to sharpen their wits by keen argument, and above all, to think for themselves. Then, too, this Scotch mother, while not a trained musician, had a deep, rich voice and a stirring way of singing old-fashioned hymns. On Sunday evenings the Bible would be read aloud, and then she would sing one hymn after another: while her brawny Scotch lads listened with eagerness and enjoyed the treat so keenly that they often complained because Sunday came only once a week.

The brood of children left the home nest one by one, and the mother died prematurely because of overwork and anxiety. But she lived anew in the boys as they became successful men in various professions and callings; for although at the outset they were poor and had little education, they had her buoyant, hopeful nature, and her fine qualities of mind.

One of them was a soldier, and was mortally wounded in a foreign campaign. The chaplain in the hospital told him that he had only a few hours of life in reserve, and asked him if he had any religious faith.

"I have never had anything else," he replied. "I can hear my good mother now singing her Sunday night hymns on the Scotch coast!"

Another son became a prosperous barrister, with a great reputation for learning and wit. He would have had a larger income if it had not been for a striking peculiarity. He invariably threw up a case when he was convinced that there was no justice in it.

"I like to think of my dear old Scotch mother," he would say, "when I plead a case in court!"

Another was an earnest preacher. One was a doctor with a metropolitan practice. Three were successful merchants and one was a high-minded publisher. All were richly endowed with their mother's courage and mental resources, and all shared her deep, religious nature.

In many a temptation and crisis they recalled her face shining in the winter firelight of their old home, and the hymns she had sung, in which she had expressed the religious devotion that had governed her life, and the tender, unflinching love of a mother's heart.—Youth's Companion.

Accuracy of the Musical Ear.

An interesting instance of the accuracy with which music that has not been written can be transmitted through the ear and the voice is noted by Miss Alice C. Fletcher in her studies of the songs of the Omaha Indians. One of these songs was recorded by means of a phonograph, and it agreed in every particular with the same song as it had been heard and noted down 12 years before.

Strange Revenge.

J. A. Morris, the dead lottery king, was once blackballed by the New Orleans Jockey club. Smarting under the affront, he boasted he would one day make the Jockey club grounds a graveyard. When he got richer he secretly bought the property and carried out his threat. It is now one of the leading cemeteries of New Orleans.

HARD FIGHTERS IN LAW.

Clients Dislike Being Told That Their Cases Are Poor.

"Clients love a hard fighter and the onlookers are impressed with his zeal," says Richard D. Doyle in an article on "Law and Lawyers" in the Southern Magazine. "In my own experience I have had cases where I advised my clients not to sue because I was sure they had no chance, and, although they followed my advice, instead of employing other counsel, they refused to pay a reasonable fee and in one case left me to pay the court costs. And I have seldom advised a client to compromise or submit to arbitration that I did not displease him. It requires moral courage to advise one against his inclinations, but it is sometimes a lawyer's sacred duty. Whatever may be said as to its morality or true wisdom, yet I must say that I regard this aggressive and partisan spirit more conducive to modern success than profound judgment, for I have seen lawyers succeed chiefly by reason of it in whom the logical faculty was not at all conspicuous. In speaking of success, it will be observed that I do not mean the eminence of such men as Erskine, Rufus Webster, William Pinckney, Wirtus Choate and Charles O'Connor, but such success as is attained by the leading members of the bar in every town or city of the United States, who have a good practice, sometimes very lucrative, though they are unknown to fame and forgotten outside of their neighborhood when they are gone."

BY MARRIAGE.

Relationship Which Did Not Prevent a Man from Getting Work.

"Before I got into the government service," remarked a treasury clerk, reports the Washington Star, "I was employed as a kind of general manager for a lumber company in the mountains of North Carolina. One of my special jobs was to look after a sawmill the company had well up in the hills, and one day it became necessary to have a man in an emergency. There was no one near to respond to the call, so I asked one of the gang from the river where the extra man was wanted if he could find help."

"I reckon I kin, cap," he responded, in the indefinite manner of the mountaineer.

"Who is it?"

"James Martin I reckon'll come ef he knowed he's needed."

"How far away does he live?"

"Two mile'n a half, 'reckon."

"Is he a good, reliable man? Do you know him?"

"I reckon I do, cap," he said, hesitatingly. "You see he's kinder sorter kin to me by marriage."

"Is that so?"

"Well, cap, I reckon you wouldn't exactly call it kin, mebbe; it's rather sorter connectin'. You see James' fust wife got a divorce from him and I married her. Don't that make me an' James some kind in relation or other?"

NEGRO PRODIGY.

Though Uneducated He Is a Lightning Mathematician.

Robert Gardhire is a negro, and an uneducated one, but when it comes to figures he can't be stopped by any mathematician in the world, says the Augusta Chronicle. He is a humble resident of Augusta, and is employed as a laborer at the Interstate Cotton Oil company. In multiplication Gardhire is as quick as thought. Before the average person can get the figures down with a pencil Gardhire has given the correct answer, and yet he cannot say how he does it.

He was asked what was the sum total of 99 times 97, and without repeating the figures to himself Gardhire answered offhand: 9,603. "How much," asked one, "is 501 times 52?" Without stopping a second Gardhire replied: "16,032." And thus for over half an hour numbers were thrown at him and he gave the correct multiplication like a flash. In the multiplication of fractions the man is equally proficient, and there seems no limit to his powers, which are almost occult.

Gardhire cannot remember when he first became aware of his power, and does not even know how he discovered it. He says that when the figures are given to him he sees their answer immediately. Simply by glancing at a long line of figures he can tell immediately what their sum is.

IMPORTING SCHOOL TEACHERS.
What's the Matter With the Home Product?

The Board of School Trustees of Virginia City have elected California teachers principal of the First Ward School. There would be nothing objectionable in that if we had teachers in Nevada capable of filling the position. We have a State University and a Normal School of which the people are proud and are believed, justly proud. These institutions are supported by the State. The graduates are supposed to be qualified to teach any common school in the State and are given certificates that they are so qualified. As the parents of these graduates are taxed to support the University and also the public schools, it would seem but common justice to all to give the graduates the preference as teachers in the public schools of the State. This year certificates have been given by the State Board of Education to twenty-eight High School teachers, all graduates of the State University. Did any of these apply for the position given the California? Did any old resident teacher of the State apply for the position? If so why was the preference given a non-resident? Were none of those who applied capable of filling the position?

What if the use of Nevada young men and women wasting their time qualifying themselves for the arduous duties of school teaching if they are ignored by school boards and the positions to which they are rightfully entitled are given to imported teachers? Are the latter superior to the home product and, if so, in what respect do they excel?

WEATHER BULLETIN.

(Copyright, 1899, by W. T. Foster.)

St. Joseph, Mo., July 9.—My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm waves to cross the continent from July 18th to 22d.

The next disturbance will reach the Pacific coast about the 23d, cross the west of Rockies country by the close of the 24th, the great central valleys the 25th to 27th, Eastern States the 28th.

The warm wave will cross the west of Rockies country about the 23d, the great central valleys the 25th, Eastern States the 27th.

The cool wave will cross the west of Rockies country about the 26th, great central valleys the 28th, Eastern States the 30th.

As a general average, temperature and rainfall of the week ending July 17th will range above the normal. North and east of St. Louis temperature for the week will be about normal and in all other places east of the Rockies it will be above normal.

Least rain will fall in the New England and Southern States and most rain between these sections during the week ending July 17th.

Modern Improvement.

A Pennsylvania congregation caused something of a stir a short time ago by requesting a deacon to carry a cash register when taking up collections, but now a Connecticut man has devised a better scheme. His patent consists of small cars to run a long the back of each pew and entering a lock box at the end. There is a slot in the car in which contributions can be dropped. When the time comes to take up the collection the minister presses an electric button and the cars start forth on their journey. After the service the deacons open the boxes. It is the boss racket.

A Watsonville Joke.

Watsonville's population was noticeably excited by the statement made by one of its citizens the other day that, at a specified time, he would appear on the streets riding in a horseless carriage. Pride in the inventive genius of one of their own residents caused an outpouring of the people, and promptly at the hour named the gentleman appeared occupying a carriage to which was attached a pair of mules.

About Completed.

There was quite a hull yesterday around the depot, the Christian Endeavor trains having about all passed through. There are a few stragglers along the road to be gathered up and this will complete the great feat in transportation of the Central Pacific which has been accomplished without serious delay or accident of any kind as far as trains are concerned.

It is thought that the delay in the shipments of fruit from California to Eastern markets, caused by the Christian Endeavor trains occupying the O. P. R. R., will occasion considerable loss in some of the fruit districts of the State. The increased market in San Francisco, however, by the arrival of the visitors will help matters out.

PESTIFEROUS BUFFALO GNATS.

A North Carolina Man Tells of Interesting Experiences with Them.

John W. Rusk, of Belpert, N. C., writes to the New York Sun regarding the buffalo gnat:

"I think that, as a native of North Carolina, would say, the entomologists have not met up with the gnat in question; possibly it is not distributed over a large area of the country. I met the gnats several years ago in Arkansas, on the bottom lands of the St. Francis river, and think they were the greatest day pest I ever saw. In shape they resemble the buffalo somewhat; hence the name. They do not bite or sting their victims. They have a disagreeable habit of flying from the ground and striking one in the face. But the chief trouble is that they crawl into the mouth, nostrils and the ears and deposit their eggs, which hatch in a very short time. The larvae eat away the membranes, causing death to large numbers of stock of all kinds, and of many game animals.

"The planters on the St. Francis set old logs afire in the woods for smoke to protect stock, which will eagerly rush to the smudge and stand in it to get rid of the pest.

"On one occasion I was kindling a fire to keep off gnats, when a large buck deer came rushing to the smoke and stood in it, not heeding my presence. In a few minutes a flock of wild turkeys and also four or five wild hogs came for protection. It is not an uncommon sight to see a mule before the plow, trudging along with a bucket containing a smudge, hanging from its nose over the smoke as much as possible. The gnat cannot stand smoke."

IMPROVED METHODS.

What Will the Coming Man Do if This Thing Keeps Up.

"Mazie," said the young lover, with delicate intonation, as he was escorting his best girl homeward by moonlight, after the theater supper, "suppose we follow out the old adage instead of taking a car. Shall we?"

"The old adage?" said the fair one. "You mystify me."

"Why you know the ancient saw of the wise men, don't you, where they say:

"After dinner sit awhile;
After supper walk a mile."

For a moment the dear creature meditated, and then she lifted her voice in the solemn stillness. "George," said she, half sternly, "I am no angel myself, but I must say that I hate shams. You might have put off my grandmother with that sort of a song-and-dance years ago, but not the modern up-to-date belle. Stick to the truth. If, after the luxurious supper that we have enjoyed, you are broke for car fare, don't quote poetry, nor beat round the bush. Just say: 'Mazie, dear, lend me a dime till to-morrow, and I'll repay it with two kisses a minute interest at pawnbrokers' rates!'"

With a sigh, says the New York Journal, the youth closed his hand about the precious silver piece and hailed a missing car. "I wonder what the coming man will look like," he mused, silently, "if the coming woman gets any cleverer?"

And, with a shudder, he helped the fair mind reader into the cable car and sat down beside her as gingerly as if he were sitting down in a basket of eggs.

A New Gas Generator.

Hon. Evans Williams of Empire has invented himself in an invention for generating gas which promises to revolutionize the illuminating world and put electricity in the shade so far as cost and light power for general purposes are concerned. The inventor does not care for any notoriety hence his name is not given. A small plant for experimental purposes has been put up at Mr. Williams' residence and a number of Carson people and Mr. Williams' neighbors have visited the place and watched the working and practical application of the apparatus.

The discovery is simply a carburetant and the medium to be enriched is common air, which is certainly in quantities sufficient. The generator is simply an ordinary gas tank after the usual pattern, about three feet in diameter and when extended about five feet high. This plant it is claimed can generate 50,000 feet of gas if it is taken away as fast as generated. It is supposed that the tank or cylinder is about half full of water while from the top the substance that carries the gas is suspended. Upon its coming into contact with the water the gas is liberated and the cylinder is forced upwards and the material withdraws from the water and the manufacture of gas ceases until the pressure runs off and the material again drops into the water and so on, the pressure being equalized or regulated in this way. The gas is led away from the generator by an ordinary garden hose and attached to the pipe that lead to the burners. It is claimed that a flame the size of a silver quarter is almost as intense as that of the street arc lamp. An ordinary gas tip will burn one-quarter of a foot of gas per hour giving out light of 100 candle power.

Two bicycle lamps have been fitted with a small generator each so that they are no larger than the ordinary lamp. A practical trial has been given and it is estimated they will burn eighty hours without recharging.
